

Finding Your Power

A Family of Origin Intensive

“That which we do not heal from childhood, we replay in adulthood.”

(Please Call for Dates and Availability)

Conducted by

Susan Lessley, MA, LMFT

and

Barb O'Brien, M. Ed., LICSW

This workshop is a 3 day intensive therapy experience that investigates the origins of adult dysfunctional behaviors. In this revolutionary educational and experiential workshop, participants learn to identify and address those early childhood wounds which fuel various addictions, depression, anxiety and relationship difficulties. The focus is not on blaming caregivers; but rather healing the trauma (any less-than-nurturing childhood events). The workshop is based on the groundbreaking work of Pia Mellody and utilizes her treatment model. It includes the following phases:

Informational Phase- During this phase participants will learn about boundaries and how, as a child, boundaries were possibly violated. Participants will begin to understand the relationship between the child and the adult as perceived by the child. We will also discuss core issues and teach participants how to address and heal their core issues.

Debriefing Phase- This phase consists of delving into the past and recollecting less-than-nurturing and /or abusive childhood experiences and identifying associated feelings.

Experiential Phase- Guided by the therapist through a series of specific processes developed by Pia Mellody, participants will identify and begin to heal childhood wounds. In this safe and nurturing environment, clients can release painful emotions and reclaim personal power.

Ongoing Recovery and Empowerment Strategies- Participants will receive a set of strategies, tools, and resources to make permanent these empowering principles in their daily lives.

Workshop Cost: $1,400.00

Space is limited to 4 participants. The workshop fee includes workshop manual and materials, beverages, snacks, and on-call support throughout the weekend.
